To illustrate how Anderson is growing a gentleman meeting a friend on the train whom he knew was from Anderson, asked him how long since he had been in Anderson. The gentleman replied that it had been six weeks.

That is friend told him that he had better telegraph ahead to his people and tell them to meet him at the depot, that if he did not he would be certain to get lost.

Dr. S. M. Orr has declined to enter the race for the State Senate. Last week some of his friends announced him as a candidate, but after Dr. Orr thought over the matter, he decided that his time belonged to the many enterprises of which he is in charge. He thanked his friends and said he appreciated the many promises of support.

Mr. William Woodson, an old Confederate Veteran, died at the County Home Monday. Mr. Woodson was 90 years of age. The remains were carried to Siloam church and interred. Though this old vet died in a County Home he may be better off today than the richest man in these United States.

The annual reunion of the veterans of Company F, twenty-fourth regiment, met today at Carswell Institute. The speakers for the day are Julius E. Boggs, W. N. Graydon, Wyatt Aiken, G. Howe Ligon, Pringle Clinkscale and perhaps several more. The people are expecting a reunion of more than usual interest this year.

Maj. J. W. Gaines, formerly of Townville, but who is now traveling for Ginn & Co., geographic publishers of New York, has been spending a few days in the city. Sometime ago these publishers saw some photographs of the Plaza and they sent Maj. Gaines to Anderson to secure three photographs of scenes in the city to use in their new geographies.

All the members of the Palmetto Riflemen who intend going to Chickamauga will meet this afternoon at the Armory in full uniform in time to catch the 6:30 car for the park, where they will put in some extended order drills. The Company leaves Friday for Chickamauga for the encampment. The sweethearts of the soldiers will be on hand at the depot to bid their lovers goodbye before the bloody second battle of Chickamauga takes place.

The horse attached to the Southern Express Co.'s wagon got frightened on the square Thursday and took in the square for a brief period and finally landed against a delivery wagon in front of a grocery. Fortunately no one was in either wagon and nobody hurt. It is regretted by many that the scare-crow express wagon was not smashed beyond repair. The business done in Anderson by the Southern Express Co. entitles us to better looking express wagons than the one now being used.

The government at Washington has sent Prof. J. E. Dorman, who is a native of Kansas, to make an inspection of the dairying and cattle-raising of W. C. Pickens and the Brushy Creek Creamery. It is said that Mr. Pickens is probably the largest stock raiser in the upper part of the county. It is expected that Prof. Dorman will make an address on dairying at the Brushy Creek Creamery Aug. 16. This is the second time the governor has sent a man to this part of the County to inspect the stock raising and creamery business.

Miss Aurie Cox, of Belton, gave a very delightful house party last week. The young ladies present were Misses Otis O'Dell of Liberty, Ellie Murphy or Piedmont, Maude Erskine of Anderson, Annie Belle Beam of Pelzer, and Elizabeth Allgood of Liberty. The young men present were Messrs. Cox, Shaw, Smith, Drake and Kay. One of the most enjoyable events of the week was a lawn party given the young people at Miss Cox's home Thursday evening. The beautiful lawn was brilliantly lighted with Japanese lanterns. Fruits were served.

Mr. R. Cull Wyatt of Equality died Sunday morning from the effects of paralysis. He was attacked by paralysis last February as he was going from Easley to Equality. He broke a blood vessel in the left side of his head, which caused the attack. Last week he suffered another attack. He was one of the best men in his community and leaves a large family connection. His wife and three children survive him. Also three sisters and four brothers. He was a devoted member of St. Paul's Methodist Church. Mr. Wyatt was about 50 years of age. He was a son of the late Redmond G. Wyatt.

Miss Bessie Webb died at the residence of friends in Buford, Ga., Monday morning at 5 o'clock. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Webb, who live near Flat Rock church a few miles south of the city. She left home last Wednesday morning to visit friends and relatives and immediately after her arrival there she was taken sick and gradually grew worse until death ended her suffering Monday morning. The funeral services were held yesterday at 11 o'clock at Flat Rock Church, conducted by the Rev. Fennell, and the interment followed in the churchyard cemetery.

Capt. Geo. W. Sullivan is announced in this issue as a candidate for the State Senate. Capt. Sullivan is a well known citizen of the county and has made his home for many years in Williamston, being one of the leading merchants of the town. Up to the time he entered the Confederate army he had lived in Laurens County. After the war Capt. Sullivan settled in Greenville County, and later attended Wofford College, where he graduated. After graduating he built the Fork Shoals cotton mill. In 1888 Capt. Sullivan moved to Williamston, where he has lived ever since, doing a mercantile business. He has never held public office outside of his town, where he was three times elected mayor.
